HSA Basics

A health savings account (HSA) is a tax-advantaged checking account that gives you the ability to save for future medical expenses or pay current ones. It is individually owned; however, you may elect to designate an authorized signer who may also withdrawal funds and be issued a debit card.

HSA Eligibility

To be eligible to make deposits to an HSA, you:

- Must be currently enrolled in an HSA-qualified health plan;
- May not be enrolled in any other non-HSA qualified health plan;
- May not have, or be eligible to use, a general purpose flexible spending account (FSA);
- Cannot be claimed as a dependent on another person's tax return;
- May not be enrolled in Medicare, Medicaid, or Tricare;
- Must not have used VA benefits for anything other than preventative services in the past three months.

Contributions to your HSA

The annual maximum allowable contributions to an HSA, as established by the IRS, for 2013 are:

- Individual: $3,250
- Family: $6,450

Individuals 55 and older can make an additional catch-up contribution of $1,000 in 2013. A married couple can make two catch-up contributions if both spouses are eligible. The spouses must deposit the catch-up contributions into separate accounts.

The annual maximum contribution is based on a calendar year and there is no limit to the dollar balance that can build in the account over time. Contributions can come from:

- Employee pre-tax payroll withholding
- Employer contributions (non-taxable income)
- Individual contributions from account owner or other individual (tax-deductible for account holder)
- IRA or Roth IRA rollover

Distributions from your HSA

- You, or an authorized signer, can make withdrawals (or distributions) for qualified expenses.
- Distributions from your HSA can be made by check, debit card, ATM, or by request in-person or via the telephone.
- Distributions for qualified medical expenses are tax free.
- Distributions made for anything other than qualified medical expenses are subject to IRS tax plus a 20% penalty. The penalty is waived if the account owner is 65 or older, or due to death or disability.
- Qualified medical expenses for your spouse and your tax dependents' may be paid from your HSA, even if those individuals are not covered under your high deductible health plan (HDHP).
- You're responsible for keeping receipts for all distributions from your HSA. The bank does not monitor how the funds are spent.

Advantages of an HSA

Portability:

You can take 100% of the deposited funds with you when you retire or change employers. You are the account owner.

Flexibility:

You can choose whether to spend the money on current medical expenses or you can save your money for future use. Unused funds remain in the account from year to year and there is no "use it or lose it" provision.

Tax Savings:

- Contributions are tax free, (pre-tax through payroll deductions or tax deductible)
- Earnings are tax free
- Funds withdrawn for eligible medical expenses are tax free.

Premium Savings:

An HSA-qualified insurance plan tends to be less expensive than a traditional insurance plan.

Allowable Expenses

To be a qualified medical expense, the expense has to be primarily for the diagnosis, cure, mitigation, treatment, or prevention of disease. It must be to alleviate or prevent a physical or mental defect or illness. These expenses may or may not apply to your insurance deductible depending on the coverage provided by your medical plan.

HSAs at Tax Time

- You'll receive Form 1099 SA for your yearly distribution total and Form 5498 SA for your yearly contribution total. These figures are reported to the IRS and they require you to report them on IRS Form 8889 when filing your federal taxes. See IRS Publication 969 or consult your tax advisor for further information.
- You may make contributions to your HSA for the previous calendar year up to the tax filing deadline, which is normally April 15th. On your deposit, be sure to indicate that the contribution is for the previous calendar year to ensure correct processing.

Insurance Coverage Changes

- If you start an HSA-qualified health plan mid-year, you may contribute the full annual maximum to your HSA. However, a testing rule applies to those that start a HDHP any time other than January 1st. Per the IRS, you must remain an HSA-eligible individual through December 31st of the next calendar year. If you're not sure you'll remain on the plan, you may want to pro-rate your contribution amount in order to avoid having the excess added to your gross income and an additional 10% tax on that amount.
- If your insurance coverage changes from individual to family mid-year, you're eligible for the full family contribution limit for that calendar year.
- If your insurance coverage changes from family to individual mid-year, your contribution limit will need to be pro-rated according to how many months you were on each type of insurance coverage.

What If...

You fill a prescription at the pharmacy and need to pay for your medication.

1. Pay using your HSA debit card.
2. Write a check from your HSA.

You're at the pharmacy and realize you don't have your HSA debit card or checks with you, or you don't have sufficient funds in your HSA account to cover the purchase.

1. Pay for the purchase with cash, personal credit card, debit card, or check and later repay yourself by writing yourself a check from your HSA, making an ATM withdrawal, or requesting a cashier's check be mailed to you. Cashier's check fee will apply.

You're faced with a medical emergency early in the year and you do not have enough in your HSA to cover your portion of the hospital bill?

1. Ask to set up a payment plan. As funds are deposited into your HSA (through payroll withholding, employer contributions, or other) you can make payments to the provider using your HSA debit card or checks.
2. Pay the bill with another personal checking account, savings account, or credit card and then repay yourself as the funds accumulate in your HSA. Be sure to negotiate a discounted price for paying in-full up-front. Most providers will agree to a 10%-30% discount.

You receive a medical bill in the mail and you do have funds available in your HSA for payment?

1. You can typically write your HSA debit card number on the provider invoice and have the payment debited from your account.
2. Write a check from your HSA and mail in the payment. Be sure your insurance company has already processed the bill and that you're only paying your portion of the negotiated rate.

You're required to pay for treatment at the time of service. Later, you receive reimbursement from the provider?

1. Cash the check and pay for other eligible medical expenses and save those receipts.
2. Mail the check to Tower Bank for deposit into your HSA, indicating that it's a reimbursement.

You're shopping at your local convenience store and purchase groceries and a prescription at the same time. How should you handle the register transaction?

1. Ring up your other purchases separately from your medical purchase and use your HSA debit card or checks for the prescription only.
2. Ring everything up in one transaction, pay with cash, personal credit card, personal debit card, or personal check, then repay yourself for the medical portion of the purchase later from your HSA funds.
