

Greenfield-Central Community School Corporation's Theory of Action

If we...

- Provide principals and teachers with the vision and support to build a rigorous and relevant blended learning environment for students that focuses on a 21st century curriculum
- Provide teachers with appropriate resources, pertinent professional development, evaluations that include specific and targeted feedback, deep coaching opportunities, and regular settings for peer collaboration and support through Professional Learning Communities
- Foster a safe, trusting, and collaborative environment for students, parents, teachers, administrators and support staff

Then we...

- Will prepare students for success through foundational and personalized learning experiences that recognize and accommodate multiple learning styles, needs and interests
- Will meet the physical, social, emotional, and intellectual needs of all students by providing a positive, safe, and supportive school culture that is built on high expectations and manifests positive character attributes
- Will build a community of engaged, collaborative, self-directed and resilient learners that meet the profile of a graduate for Greenfield-Central Schools
