

Air Quality Notice

Under new Indiana law (IC 16-41-37.5-2), schools are required to test classroom air quality to monitor for levels of humidity, dust, carbon dioxide, mold, etc.

Greenfield Central recently purchased new equipment to help us in that effort.

Rumors that we are testing air quality because of black mold are not true.

Students will undoubtedly observe frequent measurements taken in classrooms across the district as we work to establish and maintain acceptable levels of particulates in the air.
